

PROTOCOL

1. Before participating in the testweek, subjects will have to read the information letter and sign the informed consent online.
2. At the beginning of the experiment, all participants will receive a cup, a lid and a six-sided dice and are provided with the opportunity to verify that the cup, the lid and the dice are fair.
3. Afterwards, participants will be asked to read the instructions of the Die Under Cup (DUC) task on a computer screen. These instructions will also mention that, at the end of the experiment, we will randomly select several participants to receive payment according to their dice roll outcome. After reading the instructions of the task on the computer screen, participants will be guided to press a “go” button, which will start the DUC and a timer measuring how long it takes participants to roll the dice and report their outcome.
4. After completing the ‘die under cup’ task, participants will be requested to report how they feel on nine negative items (e.g., “sad”) and seven positive items (e.g., “happy”). Thereafter, they will be asked to fill in an online questionnaire about their belief in payment rules and their knowledge of the task.
5. A few weeks later, chosen participants will receive an e-mail saying that they can pick up their earned money at the TOP desk.
